$100,000 School Bonds Voted in San Carlos

The $100,000 bond issue carried Tuesday in San Carlos by the required two-thirds majority, when 691 votes were cast of which 512 were in favor and 179 against.

George Forbes, chairman of the school board, said: "The vote shows the community appreciates the necessity for school facilities as a requirement to the futherance of the educational progress of San Carlos and the welfare of the youngsters. Our job now is to see that the money is wisely spent."

The board has indicated that if the bond issue passed, work would be started almost immediately to complete the White Oaks School, adding five more classrooms and an office and nurse's department. It stated definitely no auditorium is contemplated. The cost of completing the buildings is estimated at approximately $70,000 to $80,000. These will conform in architecture with the present building which has many new features in heating, lighting and play areas.

The remainder of the money, the board has said, will be used to prepare the Arundel School area so that if there is a decided increase in child population in that section a school may be built there. The tax rate per year has been estimated at $1.50, with a slightly larger sum the first year.

The voting Tuesday, which was light in the early hours, due to the heavy rain, reached 200 by 1 o'clock with about 300 votes cast after 5 p.m At 7 o'clock a long line was inside the polls and others were turned away outside, because they arrived after 7 p.m. Last person to cast his vote was Donald E. Lilly, former councilman and planning commission member.

The heaviest vote came from the White Oaks District, where the residents have shown great pleasure in the new school, Forbes said. The rest of the vote was fairly well distributed over the city, with the sparsest coming from the Devonshire and Hidden Valley sections. Mrs. Harry Wade Mahany was inspector, with Mrs. Walter Kellogg and Mrs. Frank Youtsey as judges.

Former R.C. Teacher Burlingame School Head

BURLINGAME — George V. White, principal of McKinley School here, Wednesday became superintendent of Burlingame's elementary school system following his appointment Tuesday night by the local school board. He succeeds the late Dr. Lester D. Henderson.

White, 41, whose educational background includes studies at Stanford, University of California at Los Angeles and Columbia University, recently returned to the Burlingame school system from army service.

White at one time served as part time teacher at McKinley School in Redwood City. Following his graduation from Stanford in 1928, he became principal of the Garfield School in Redwood City. Previous to his service in Redwood City, he served as principal of the Pescadero School.

Menlo Park Driver Hurt in Accident

MENLO PARK—Mrs. Fay Sternberger, 33, of 580 Kenwood Dr., Menlo Park, suffered minor injuries in an automobile accident at Harvard Ave. and Cornell Rd., Menlo Park, Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Charles C. Chiswell, 34, 100 University Dr., Menlo Park, was driving the other car involved in the collision.

According to the drivers' stories, Mrs. Sternberger was going north on Cornell at 15 m. p. h. and Chiswell was going west on Harvard at 20 miles an hour when their cars collided at center of intersection.

Mrs. Sternberger, suffering from pains in the stomach, left hand and left leg, as well as a sprained ankle, was taken to Palo Alto Hospital in a Menlo Park police car. She was released after treatment.

Police said no charges will be preferred.

Supervisor Kept Busy By Business

Appointment of a supervisor for Redwood City and the remainder of Dist. 3, for the remaining three years of the term of Lt. Col. Henry W. Edmonds of Redwood City, may become a duty of Gov. Earl Warren in the near future.

Recurrent rumors that Edmonds, because of business connections and responsibilities, may be unable to continue to represent the local district on the county board, reached fever pitch here Monday as speculation grew whether Edmonds' possible resignation would be presented the board tomorrow.

Two county officials, who preferred to remain nameless, gave impetus to the insistent rumors today as they indicated it was their understanding Edmonds either had, or soon would, present a resignation suggestion to Chmn. E. A. McDonald of the county board.

McDonald, who told the Tribune he had not heard officially of any such move, said he would naturally have to await word from Edmonds and consider the suggestion with other board members, before making comment.

County Clerk William H. Augustus who said the rumor might have sprung from the fact that Edmonds missed a recent meeting because of unexpected delay while on a business trip to El Paso, declared he had "heard nothing official." Augustus said he expected Edmonds to appear at Tuesday's meeting of the board, although he had not returned to his home, 227 Rogers St., lot Monday afternoon.

A new political fillip was given the situation when one observer at the courthouse today said he wondered whether Dr. Arthur E. O'Neill, whom Edmonds defeated last November by less than a thousand votes—25,577 to 24,619 before absentee ballots were counted—might be named to succeed the Redwood City district member.

Edmonds, who retired from active army service in 1934, has been active in veterans' affairs and realty operations in Redwood City, and has been employed by the Southern Pacific Co. as superintendent of troop train movements since last year.

Augustus, who reiterated he had not heard anything official, said he had been told by Edmonds that the latter hoped "he would be able to attend the board's regular meetings steadily," but that the supervisor had said that some of the trips made in connection with his company duties might prevent such attendance.

Another official said that while he was certain Edmonds would not wish to relinquish his duties as supervisor, he was equally certain the "colonel would not wish to maintain his position" if he found himself unable to devote sufficient time to the county's business.

After his retirement from the army, following 25 years' active service, Edmonds was elected to the city council here, in 1940, serving only six months before receiving a military leave. He resigned the council post in June, 1942.

He served for a time on the port commission for Redwood City and was also a member of the county traffic safety committee.

One member of the San Mateo County board, Martin A. Poss, San Mateo florist and civic leader, already holds his place by gubernatorial appointment.

Report of South S. F. Plane Crash Unfounded

A report to the sheriff's office and to the coast guard station at South San Francisco that a plane was down sent searchers half a mile east of San Mateo Point at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

After two hours of checking, it was discovered the "plane" which had been reported down was merely a flare which had been released over the bay from a plane.

Three Youths Captured After Escaping Here From Juvenile Home

Tying together sheets from their beds into a rope to freedom, three 15-year-old boy inmates of the county juvenile home shinned down two stories in pouring rain Tuesday night but were foiled in their escape attempt.

The boys, two from East Palo Alto and one, an incorrigible from San Mateo, got as far as the 2700 block on El Camino Real when Redwood City police noticed the hitch-hiking youths in scant attire.

Just a few minutes before, Police Chief C. L. Collins reported a call was received from the juvenile home on the escaped trio and all patrol cars were alerted.

Within a half hour of their "movie version" escape, the boys were back at the juvenile home.

Asst. County Probation Officer Anthony Lovoi said the youths apparently began their bid for freedom about 6 p.m. They removed the heavy metal screening of their bedroom window and looped one end of the sheet rope over a bed post, Lovoi recapitulated.

The rain, darkness and decreasing thermometer apparently failed to daunt the boys. One of the East Palo Alto boys was on his way to Log Cabin ranch for burglary and the other was en route to the California Youth Authority for petty theft and truancy.

Lovoi said the third youth was a habitual criminal and was most recently picked up for truancy. He is en route to the Kern County Forestry Camp.

Butano Gets New Boost

Ashley C. Browne, formerly on the regional office of the National Park Service, has added his voice to the thousands who seek purchase of the Butano Forest as an addition to the state park system.

In a letter to A. E. Henning, state chief of parks at Sacramento, Browne warned that the opportunity to purchase the Butano may be the last to provide a recreational area of sufficient magnitude and diversity in the Central Coast area, adequate to handle rapidly mounting public needs.

Browne, who assisted in preparing a master report on the Butano-Waddell-Big Basin recreation area, pointed out that the Butano area is virtually in its natural state except for the loss of bears, a few tan oaks and redwoods split for posts, shakes and ties.

"Acquisition of this land would definitely relieve the current pressure on the California Redwood Park (Big Basin) which is now in grave danger of overloading," Browne wrote.

Consolidation of the Big Basin, Butano, Memorial and Shrine Grove park system in a single recreation area would permit economical management and development, he argued.

"There is incumbent on this generation not only the temporary stewardship of California's unique holdings in recreational and scenic areas, but the infinitely more difficult obligation of preserving those areas 'forever in a state of nature' if they are to be handed on to future generations in other than an exhausted condition from over use, even though attempts be made to prevent the tragic but inevitable decline which must accompany inadequate longtime planning. The acquisition of these lands now is a definite step toward longtime planning and is in accord with the very basic precepts on which the park system was established," the letter declared.

County Doctors Back Peterson

Approval of County Executive Frederick Peterson's recent denial of suggestions to return Mills Memorial Hospital Annex facilities to use of the county, was disclosed Monday in a resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the San Mateo County Medical Society.

The resolution "protests the proposal that Mills Memorial Hospital facilities revert to the county under existing conditions" and points out that if more beds are needed for county-care patients "unused areas in the main building at Community Hospital should be utilized."

Total votes of 6656, cast by buyers of $166,475 in bonds, were certified by a committee composed of J. Elmer Morrish, Ferris W. Miles and J. C. Ferrell.

Miss Dwyer is automatically entered in the San Mateo County Victory Loan Queen Contests, winner of which will go on to the Northern California contest.

Winner of the Northern California contest will receive a trip to Honolulu by Clipper, and a trip to Hollywood.

Planning Engineer Study Opens

Chmn. A. H. Morgan Jr. of the Redwood City Planning Commission Wednesday said the commission would meet later this week to discuss employment of a planning engineer.

Hiring of an engineer to draw up a master plan for the city was authorized at Monday night's council meeting.

Morgan, who said the commissioners had "four or five prospects," asserted the group was eager to go ahead with plans.

The council, in authorizing formation of the master plan, stipulated the cost was not to exceed $10,000.

Financing the master plan was not decided upon, although the planning commission has proposed .5 per cent of the $998,000 bond issue be augmented by $5000 from city funds.

Board of Realtors To Stage Dinner

All real estate brokers and salesmen are invited to attend the Redwood City-San Carlos Dist. Board of Realtors dinner at Grace and Pierre's next Tuesday, Teddy Lauman announced Monday.

Frank Nye of San Francisco, chief deputy commissioner of the state real estate department, will explain recent amendments to the state real estate act, Lauman said. Carl Yearing of San Carlos, president of the local board, is chairman of the event.

Tickets may be obtained from Henry Witte of Redwood City or Yearing. The dinner will be at 7 p. m.

City Officials Mum On Chamberlain Case

City officials and chamber of commerce representatives had no comment to make Wednesday on the council action which denied Ross Chamberlain an easement over Chestnut St. for construction of a drill track to open his industrial properties.

Mgr. E. W. (Ned) Butler of the chamber said he might have a statement to make later after conferring with board members.

Purchasers of clothing in Britain have been cut down by $2,400,000,000 in two years of rationing.

News of Commuters

By JOE CABOOSE

Some of the things you do reluctantly, from a sense of duty, often turn out to be most profitable and enjoyable. It was like that Friday night at the meeting of Cub Pack 16 (Commuter-sponsored) at McKinley School. Unable to go out on consecutive evenings, at our advanced age, we purposely ducked the Kiwanis-Commuter clambake at Grace & Pierre's the evening before. Our men tell us we missed a great party, but more of that later.

We're always afraid we are not giving enough time to our children and that they'll grow up Dead-End kids. Our latest book, "Life In A Putty Knife Factory," can wait. The children first; So, with Raymond and our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jacobsen and their sons, Jackie and Richard, we go to Cubs. We settle back for two hours of martyrdom. And then something happens. One Capt. D. R. Lewis of the 37th (Buckeye) Division, who fought on Makin, Saipan and othe Pacific "hot spots," is introduced as assistant scoutmaster of Troop 160, (also Commuter-sponsored). "He will say a few words to the boys." Soon we were sitting on the edge of our seat with the same breathless interest as the kids down front.

Captain Lewis was defining a "tough guy" for these 9-to-12-year-olds. A tough guy isn't one who goes around pulling girls' hair and beating up fellows smaller than himself. A real tough guy is never a "show-off" or a "smart-aleck." Then Captain Lewis told about the toughest guy he ever knew, a soldier in his company. He was a big, Kentucky lad, and the best shot in the regiment. He could "shoot a flea off a dog's back at 200 paces." But he was quiet and reserved, never boastful.

★ ★ ★

The battle of Saipan was unusually rugged. They had been fighting Japs for 48 hours without a letup. Only 23 men of Captain Lewis' original company were still on their feet. One of them was the big Kentuckian, the "tough guy." The Japs were only 100 yards away, but Captain Lewis said he had to give his exhausted men time out to eat. They had nothing but K rations and distilled sea water. He explained that men under such terrific strain have to be watched carefully. They sometimes crack and go berserk under intense battle fatigue. "If a man gets a wild look in his eye," said Captain Lewis, "and he starts fingering his gun when he should be eating, you better watch out!"

This day on Saipan, when Captain Lewis called time out for chow, all 23 of his surviving men, except one, began immediately to eat. The big Kentuckian sat with his machine gun across his lap, pointing directly at Captain Lewis, and he had his head bowed, mumbling to himself. Captain Lewis went over to investigate. He couldn't believe the "toughest guy in the regiment" would be cracking. "And what do you suppose he was doing?" asked Captain Lewis. "He was simply saying grace before partaking of his meal."

★ ★ ★

Yes sir, concluded the speaker, the toughest guy in the outfit was humbly thanking God for his can of K rations and his canteen of sea water. "This was an inspiration to us all," said Captain Lewis, "and we all felt better for having such a man among us. The point I want you boys to remember is that a real tough guy, a real man, is never afraid or ashamed to do what he knows to be right. And although he is brave, he is also kind and gentle."

★ ★ ★

You Commuters and others who have boys in the Cubs and Scouts under this type of leadership should be very grateful; and you should give your full support to such men as Captain Lewis and Ed George, scoutmasters; Bruce Schott, cubmaster, and the various committeemen who assist, Ray Cereghino, Will Rogers, Joe Demma, Walter Shugert, Wayne Burke, Harmon Overmire, Henry Cerrato and M. L. Brockway. The den mothers, who do most of the real work, also deserve a lot of credit.

★ ★ ★

Bugs Baer, writing of the atomic bomb, says "man will eventually succeed in destroying himself . . . like the champion sword swallower who took a bow in the middle of his act." The week's best laffs . . . The Pennsylvania meteorologists holding their annual picnic . . . in the rain! The introvert with a buttoniere from his own flower garden every morning . . . just to prove he wore the plants in his family. And the man who asked the druggist for a mixture of DDT and aspirin . . . because he had a "lousy" headache. And finally, the woman doctor who insisted on performing her husband's appendectomy because she didn't want anyone else opening her male.

★ ★ ★

Bill McKeegan fills us in on the Kiwanis-Commuter dinner party as follows: A feature of the evening was presentation of a handsome trophy to the championship Kiwanis Club by Red Morton, Redwood City recreational director. Baseball team manager, Andy Spinas received the trophy for the Ks. Some of the bold Commuters wanted to know where the trophy had been the past two years when the Commuters had the champion team. Rumor has it the Lions Club furnished the trophy so they would have something to win next year.

Entertainment was furnished by Jack Welch and his magic violin, with Bill Dobbyn at the ivories. Bud Kellogg did a table act (which McKeegan doesn't explain) and there was excellent story telling by Roy Fredlund, Fred Schmidt and Fred Earth. Capt. Paul Allen, Ferris Miles and Clarence Brizee made speeches. Guido Simoni told how he lost the gam esinglehanded. Bill Curran, believe it or not, didn't say a word all evening. He wasn't there!

Aged Man Dies In Millbrae Auto Accident

San Mateo County's traffic death toll for 1946 mounted to 84 Tuesday as a result of an accident at Millbrae last night involving a Redwood City motorist and a Millbrae pedestrian.

California Highway Patrol officers reported Diedrich Borchers, 73, whose address, given as general delivery, Millbrae, was dead on arrival at Mills Hospital, San Mateo, after he had been struck, at El Camino Real near San Juan Ave., by the car of George C. King, 43, 942 Whipple Ave., Redwood City.

Officers, and two other motorists who witnessed the accident, absolved King of blame. Albert McDonald of 41 Lindenville, San Francisco, and James Rinchart, 259 Bridlee, San Mateo, told officers that they had noticed Borchers standing in mid-highway, attempting to cross. They said the accident was probably Borchers' fault, officers reported. Borchers was thrown into the northbound traffic lane by the impact when King's auto, going south, struck him, was run over by an unidentified motorist a moment later. County ambulance service rushed the injured man to Mills Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

John Miller, 21, sailor, arrested at San Bruno on car theft charges, was in the county jail Tuesday as a result of his alleged attempt to dispossess Capt. Chester Parker, USA, 430 Peninsula Ave., San Mateo, of his auto last night. Captain Parker told officers he had offered Miller a ride, at a Millbrae drive-in restaurant about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. Parker said he left his car for a moment and returned to find it missing. Advising Millbrae officers, he asked an alarm be sent out. San Bruno police arrested Miller, with Parker's car, about 30 minutes later.

Frank McMillan, 30, salesman, of 417 North Delaware, San Mateo, suffered minor injuries Tuesday morning when his car skided as he attempted to brake to a quick stop on Bayshore Hwy. near Brisbane, and overturned. McMillan was taken to South San Francisco Hospital for treatment.

Two other accidents resulting in no injuries, were reported to California Highway Patrol officers. Elizabeth I. Mulheim, 607 Concord Ave., Burlingame, skidded into a guard rail on Bayshore Hwy. south of Geneva Ave., Monday afternoon, and Ernest J. Martin, 32, 1938 19th St., San Francisco, collided with a truck driven by Joseph G. Frank, 37, San Jose, on Bayshore Hwy. near San Bruno Rd. last evening.

Six motorists were cited by Redwood City police over the weekend for traffic violations. They will appear Friday before Judge Edward I. McAuliffe in city court. Cited were: Walter Worth, 255 Belmont Ave., speeding; Robert Jensen, Rte. 2, Box 355, Los Altos, speeding; Everett Darknell, Rte. 1, Box 1097, Menlo Park, speeding; Edwin Lackey, 209 Spruce St., Menlo Park, speeding; Lucy A. Balsame, 255 King St., parking improperly, and Telleus Perry Jr., 205 5th Ave., improper parking.

City Drenched By Heaviest Rain

Redwood City's heaviest rainfall to date this season was from 5 p.m. Monday to 5 p.m. Tuesday, when 1.53 inches fell, Fire Station 2 reported today. Amount of rain which fell last night will not be recorded until this afternoon's reading.

This brings the total rainfall to date to 6.07 inches.

Although storm damage was reported in various parts of California, little damage had been reported today in San Mateo County. Duncan Reynard, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. official, stated that "not a bit" of damage had been reported by PG&E workmen. The coast guard station at Princeton reported there was little wind on the Coastside and that no fishing or navy boats had been disturbed. Mills Field officials likewise said no damage had been reported.

Ernst Brandsten reported that at Searsville Lake 1.65 inches of rain had fallen in the past 24 hours, bringing the year's total to date to 8.85 inches. Last year the total to date was 8.75 inches.

Friday Deadline to Write 'What Christmas Means to Me'

Redwood City children have until Friday to write letters to Santa Claus here on the subject, "What Christmas Means To Me," Mgr. E. W. Butler of the chamber of commerce announced today.

The six boys and girls who write the best letters will receive prizes of toys when Santa arrives in his sleigh Saturday, Dec. 8. Letters should be addressed to Santa Claus, Post Office Box 428, Redwood City.

All children 12 years or younger are eligible to enter the contest. The winners will also have the fun of riding to town with Santa on his sleigh.

The annual children's Christmas party will be held in front of the Sequoia Theater at 6:30 p.m. Saturday following Santa's arrival. Free Christmas candy and comic books will be distributed by the jolly old man in the red suit.

56 Youths Attend Annual 'Y' Day

Some 56 boys from the Redwood City, San Carlos and Menlo Park Young Men's Christian Assn. attended the annual 'Y' Day for all members from Northern California at Berkeley, Secy. Ian Hutcheon reported Tuesday.

Highlight of the day was attendance at the University of California vs. St. Mary's Preflight football game at Memorial Stadium. Hold Palo Alto Boy For Scooter Theft

A 15-year-old East Palo Alto boy is in the custody of San Mateo County juvenile authorities and two other youths are being sought in connection with the theft last month of a motor scooter from its parking place in front of Lagunita Court, Stanford women's dormitory. The scooter, found by Palo Alto police, had been returned to its owner, Ruth Levison, junior student from San Francisco.

Trustees to Discuss Proposal For High School Enlargement

Plans for enlarging Sequoia Union High School, including construction of a new recreation building, will be presented to the public by the board of trustees Friday night at 8 o'clock in the school library, Supt. A. C. Argo announced Tuesday.

Enrollment has spurted during the war years until the school now is accommodating more than 2000 students, when it was constructed for 1600 at the most, Argo pointed out. The trustees have been following a master building plan for the past 12 years and during the war the inability to obtain building materials forced plant enlargements to be discontinued, he explained.

"Now many teachers have no home rooms, classes are being held in every available space, a homemaking class is being held in the shop building while the building itself is too small to provide properly for an expanding vocational training program," Argo said.

Included in the program are plans for a new recreation building to be constructed across the driveway from the handball court and barbecue pit. Such a building would provide a snack bar and would relieve the overcrowded cafeteria, Argo pointed out. Parties and social affairs would be held in the hall which would be so constructed that additions could be made to it.

Other recommendations to be presented Friday night are enlargement and modernization of the boys' and girls' gymnasiums to allow for more locker space and special exercise rooms plus a wing of 16 classrooms to run west from the main buinlding for the commercial department and additional shop facilities.

Trustees will also inform the public Friday on the progress of plans to purchase several sites in Southern San Mateo County for additional high school grounds, Argo said. The board has already purchased the Bourdette property between Belmont and San Carlos for an additional high school.

"It is hoped than many interested citizens will attend Friday's meeting so that trustees can obtain some idea of public reaction to the recommendations," Argo stated. Within four years, enrollment at Sequoia is expected to increase to 3000 students and something must be done now to alleviate already crowded conditions, he added.

Squires See Pictures Of Football Contest

In the absence of Don Stockton, cartoonist from the San Francisco News who was ill, football pictures of the Santa Clara vs. St. Mary's game played in 1942, which Santa Clara won 20-7, were shown at the Squires' meeting last week. This was the last game in which these two great teams met on the gridiron.

Pictures were also shown of the Bellarmine vs. St. Mary's Prep football game.

The Squires brought canned goods for the Christmas basket to be given to the Dominican Sisters of Menlo Park. They contributed approximately three cases of average size.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party and entertainment which will be held during the first regular meeting in December.

A highlight of the evening was when Chief Counsellor Guido Simoni gave all the Squires present their Squire pins.

We're cutting down our waiting list... every day

Right now, throughout the Pacific Coast, we are installing thousands of telephones. Every day our waiting list is being cut down.

Our rate of progress in completing our unfilled orders is dependent upon the receipt of the necessary equipment from our manufacturers who are going ahead as rapidly as possible in reconverting from all-out war production to supplying our peacetime needs.

Still, it will take some time before we can provide service for everyone who wants it. Where the instrument itself is all that is needed, we are well on our way to take off the waiting list all such unfilled applications. But there are many places where we will have to build complicated switchboards . . . others where we will have to put up entire new buildings.

You may be certain, though, that your telephone is on the way and that we are doing everything humanly possible to hurry the day we bring it to you.

Col. James V. Edmundson Arrives In US., Expects to Visit Aunt Here Christmas

Youthful Col. James V. Edmundson, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wakefield of Palomar Park is the only member of their family who is expected here for Christmas. The Wakefield's two sons, PFC Robert and Pvt. Kenneth Wakefield are widely separated.

Robert Wakefield

Robert is in Germany and is not expected home until next Spring. He was formerly with the 69th Infantry Regiment and is now attached to the 4308th Ordnance Co. The 20-year-old soldier arrived in England in January and was with the army division that first joined with the Russians in Germany. He was graduated from Sequoia High School in June, 1943, and took his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C.

JAMES V. EDMUNDSON

Pvt. Kenneth Wakefield, Sequoia graduate, class of '44, entered the Army Specialized Training Program at Stanford University and was stationed there nine months before being transferred to Texas A&M. He recently completed a 15-day furlough at home and has returned to Camp Crowder, Mo.

The fabulous colonel, who received his promotion when he was 29, flew Gen. Hap Arnold to London not so long ago when he was the army air forces chief attache. In addition Edmundson has bagged a creditable list of Jap Zeros, a Jap submarine and other vessels. He flew in the Pacific Theater throughout the war and was injured at Pearl Harbor. He holds every decoration except the Congressional Medal, his aunt said.

KENNETH WAKEFIELD

The colonel is now with his wife and 2-year-old son in Santa Monica. He intends to make the army a career.

Flowers Aren't Fodder for Sheep

Heather—the type which grows wild in Scotland and is considered a decorative grass-flower-shrub here—must be planted and nurtured for harvest and sale. As such, it is too valuable for sheep feed.

Such, in effect, is the complaint of George Havice of Montara for the Coast Wholesale Florists, Inc., in superior court Monday. Charging that John Doe and Chris Pavlos, herding several hundred sheep in the Montara district, permitted their livestock to eat all his heather as well as other "rare and valuable flowers and grasses" on their floral-product acreage, George asked for $2500 damages and an injunction to prevent the Doe-Pavlos sheep from using his garden plots for pasture.

Judge Maxwell McNutt, singing a temporary restraining order Monday ordered hearing on the permanent injunction suit for Dec. 13. Atty. Wayne Millington, for Havice, said the damages are asked because large areas of the garden plots were ravaged by the hungry sheep.

School Meeting To Study Tax Rate

Andrew Spinas, superintendent of Redwood City Elementary Schools, announced that he has called a meeting of Parent-Teacher Assn. and other interested groups for Monday at 7:30 o'clock to discuss the building needs of the elementary schools.

Spinas said a special election is planned for next Spring to increase the tax limit from 90 cents to $1.50 to secure money to meet building problems.

A complete outline of projected buildings will be given at Monday's meeting, Spinas stated. Calling of the meeting by Spinas was authorized by the elementary school board.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

An all-day training session for scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and troop committeemen will be a feature of Sunday, starting at 10 a.m. at the Scout Hall in Woodside, Andrew Spinas, chairman of leadership training for the southern district scout organization, announced today.

Special emphasjs will be placed on the "how" and "why" of the organization of a scout unit, the assignment of responsibility in the matter of leadership, the patrol system and troop programs in the round table discussions under the direction of several of the local and council scout leaders, it was said.

A turkey dinner will highlight the session at noon. Reservations in the course indicate a large attendance will be on hand for this final training session of the 1945 program of activities.

Day, scoutmaster. Groups of members were served by several of the advanced scouts with a game period closing the meeting.

Troop 154—In the regular meeting at the San Carlos School, under the direction of Stewart Barber, scoutmaster, games, routine business and preparation for advancement in scout rank were the main features of the meeting. The troop plans a strong representation at the Court of Honor which will be held on Dec. 7 in San Carlos, for the entire southern district.

Troop 104—L. W. Allen, scoutmaster, supervised the events of the most recent meeting of the troop at the Baptist Church which featured work on scout advancement projects with signalling practice and other contests being held on an inter-patrol basis.

Troop 103—Meeting at the Ravenswood School, East Palo Alto, under the direction of J. P. Kemp, chairman of the troop committee, welcomed to membership the following new scouts: Byron Bumbacca, J. P. Kemp Jr., Charles Bustamante and Roscoe Seller Jr. Work on scout advancement projects, plans for holiday activities and a game period were the highlights of the session.

Ship 154—Members of the crew of the "Sea Bee" have reorganized plans for future activity under the direction of Barney Green, former mate of the ship, who is the newly appointed skipper of the group. The most recent meeting concerned routine business matters and a review of advancement ratings.

Pack 54—Highlighting the preholiday activities of the pack will be a fathers' and sons' night to be staged on Thursday at the city hall with a turkey dinner at 6:30 opening the evening's festivities. A. C. Brown, member of the pack committee, will serve as master of ceremonies. Assisting and in charge of the dinner arrangements are Mmes. Ted Weems and V. A. Morley, aided by members of the Pack Mothers Club, including Mmes G. Jones, C. L. Ball, A. C. Brown, B. Berry, P. Byrne, F. Cellarius, R. Risso, W. Ends, F. Hoopes, H. Middleton, C. Malaspina, C. Huge Mills Field Expansion Planned for Coming Year

Expansion of Mills Field, San Francisco and the Peninsula's major airport, into a $100,000,000 business, is planned for 1946.

Newsmen, touring the state to view California's industries reconverting from wartime to peacetime operations, were given a preview of the airport of 1946 Sunday night.

Airline facilities and equipment costing the hundred million dollar figure, it was learned, will be put in operation within the next few weeks. United Airlines has outlined a $60,000,000 budget for new planes and equipment. Pan-American officials plan six-hour flights to New York City and 28-hour trips to Calcutta, India, from Mills Field.

More than $17,000,000 has already been spent and work is going ahead, financed by a $20,000,000 bond issue recently authorized by San Francisco voters, on the airport facilities. Improvements include raising the level of the field and expanding it to 3700 acres, boosting traffic capacity from 3000 to 15,000 passengers daily and adding two new 8000-foot runways.

In their tour, newsmen learned from Charles E. Moore of Joshua Hendy Iron Works at Sunnyvale that an era of prosperity to eclipse that which followed the first world war, could be expected in the next several years.

William D. Soule Resigns As San Mateo's City Manager

William D. Soule Monday night resigned as San Mateo city manager, but a stunned city council refused immediately to consider his action.

First inkling that Soule, manager since July 1, 1937, was even considering leaving the city government, came shortly before 8 p.m. when Soule walked into a pre-council caucus session and handed Mayor Claude Hirschey his brief letter of resignation.

Soule requested that his resignation, presented "with regret," become effective Jan. 15.

Following the council meeting, Soule told the press he planned to open an engineering firm in San Mateo. He said it will be a partnership but refused to name his partner "until my city job is cleared up and other arrangements are completed."

Financial considerations were given by Soule as the only reason for his decision to leave the city government in which he has served for 22 years. He is now receiving $500 a month.

He became assistant city engineer of San Mateo in 1923 and continued in that position until 1937 when Earl P. Wilsey resigned and the city council appointed him as Wilsey's successor as manager.

Blom Begins Study of R.C. Garbage Collection System

Acting on instructions of Councilman C. C. Armstrong at the Monday council meeting, City Mgr. Edgar W. Blom Wednesday began a study of the city's garbage collection system.

Armstrong, in proposing the study, said he was not entirely satisfied with the service now offered by the San Mateo County Scavenger Co. owned by Vincent J. Arata of San Mateo.

"It seems to me the city ought to be able to do it as cheaply as he can," Armstrong said.

He declared a need for a dry garbage pick-up which, he said, would aid the city in keeping lots and curbs cleared of grass cuttings and other refuse.

The San Mateo County Scavenger Co. now holds a five-year contract with the city which will expire in May, 1948.

According to Blom, the contract holds an option clause for a five-year extension, and can be cancelled only if the city desires to take over the service.

The city retains 12½ per cent portion of all collections, with the company receiving the 87½ per cent remaining.

Menlo Annexation Draws No Protests

MENLO PARK—No protest was expressed, written or oral, at a public hearing on a petition for annexing a portion of the Martin-Domby Tract before the Menlo Park city council Tuesday night.

The next and final move in the proceedings will be for the council to pass an ordinance annexing the land at its regular meeting next Tuesday night.

Completion of the current annexation will be a concrete response to Mayor Charles Burgess' 14-point program for civic improvement. One of his points calls for extension of city boundaries.

The property, which concerned the council last night, lies between Olive St. and Lemon Ave. and McDonald and Menlo Aves.

A large portion of the property is owned by Floyd Lowe, Palo Alto realtor, who is building 92 three-bedroom-homes on the subdivision.

A telegram from Sen. Sheridan Downey was read last night disclosed that the bill to incorporate Dibble General Hospital into Menlo Park city limits went to the Senate Military Affairs Committee yesterday. Previously the bill had been passed by the House.

Atherton Man Heads Moffett NATS

Lt. Comdr. Wesley H. Ruth of Atherton Saturday took over command of the 11 Naval Air Transport Service detachments at Moffett Field, station headquarters announced. He replaces Comdr. Charles L. Lipham who is going on leave prior to reassignment.

Ruth's wife and 2-year-old son, Thomas, reside in Atherton. He served 52 months with his squadron in the Pacific Theater, including a year as the squadron's executive officer, before joining the NATS, Pacific Wing, in May, 1944. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ruth, live in Jackson, Minn.

Col. Edmonds Denies Plan To Resign

"They'll never get me out except by recall," Supervisor Henry W. Edmonds, representing Redwood City and the Third Supervisorial District, declared Tuesday in answer to rumors he planned to resign his post because of the press of business affairs.

Lt. Col. Edmonds, who returned to his home last night after a trip to Los Angeles for the Southern Pacific Co., for whom he is train superintendent in charge of troop movements in the West Coast area, declared he plans to give up his job Jan. 1, because its requirements might prevent him from handling his duties as supervisor efficiently.

Refusing to elaborate on "They," Col. Edmonds said there was absolutely no "foundation in fact" to the rumors he planned to resign. "As far as my job is concerned," he said, "I have been traveling for the railroad company for two years. There has been no change in my duties which would even intimate I might not have time to handle county affairs as a supervisor."

Rumors of Col Edmonds' possible retirement came to a climax yesterday, on the eve of today's meeting of the board, because he had not yet returned from the Southern California trip.

"It could be an attempt," he said, "by political opponents, to discredit my services to the county." He would not elaborate on the remark, nor indicate who might be "sponsoring" the rumor in hopes his position might be declared vacant.

Peninsula Army Officer Aids in Capture of Robbers

A Peninsula army officer, Lt. George Cannell of San Jose, was credited Tuesday with the speedy solution of a Manila, P. I., bank robbery, hardly eight hours after four Manila youths took 430,000 pesos ($215,000) from the Philippine Bank of Communications there.

Cannell, a police officer at San Jose for five years preceding his induction into the army, was given credit for the arrest of the youths after he and Lt. William D. Davis, of Alexandria, La., began checking suspects from descriptions furnished by two messengers of the bank, who were held up as they left the bank offices with the funds.

The messengers and witnesses said the four used military pistols and a sub-machinegun to force the messengers to give up the funds, and escaped in a jeep driven by a one-armed man.

Col. J. P. Holland, provost-marshal, said the officers began checking on one-armed Filipinos as soon as they received the witnesses' reports, and followed a trail to the suburbs. In addition to the loot, Colonel Holland said, Cannell and Davis recovered a machinegun, pistols stolen from the U. S. Army and other weapons.

Cannell said it was the "biggest case" he had ever worked on. In San Jose, he said, he was a traffic accident investigator, and "never heard of that much money."

Herbig Qualifies For Police Job

Ralph O. Herbig, 26, of 1118 Donohoe St., East Palo Alto, a graduate of Sequoia High School, is among four former service men who successfully passed examinations and have been accepted as patrolmen of the Palo Alto Police Department.

Herbig, recently discharged, was a lieutenant commander after five years service in the Atlantic and Pacific. He participated in the sinking of the German U-boat 515 in the Atlantic. He served aboard an attack transport, sub chaser and destroyer.

Court Orders Delay In Manslaughter Trial

Continuance of the trial of Frank A. Cavallero on manslaughter charges arising out of the death last June 30 of James B. Dalziel, highway patrolman, was order in superior court until Dec. 22, because of the illness of a prosecution witness, A. P. Falk of 115 Franklin Ave., South San Francisco. Cavallero is charged with contributing to the death of Dalziel, a motorcycle patrolman for the state, in an accident involving his automobile.

Supervisors Split On County-Operated Ambulance Service

San Mateo County supervisors Tuesday split on the controversial question of the county-operated service after Councilman Evans A. Fletcher of Redwood City appeared to ask county resumption of a subsidy to the Peninsula Ambulance Service here.

Fletcher, declaring Redwood City would back the private service until "the county can furnish us with more ambulance service, said Police Chief C. L. Collins had reported "he doesn't get service out of the county."

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, who sided with Chmn. Edward R. McDonald, queried Fletcher and R. H. Ratliff, owner of the private service, who spoke to the board.

Ratliff declared he believed it impossible for the county to currently provide adequate service with two ambulances, and suggested with the subsidy resumed, "for, say, a year," the county could cover the north end, and the private services could cover the south end of the county.

The cost, he said, would be "nominal."

McDonald, declaring "the ambulance service has been bad for many years," accused private operators of "folding up" when the question of service arose, and said the county was forced into providing service.

Supervisor Martin A. Poss, in asking Ratliff if he, as a private operator, could cover the entire county, was told:

"Yes. I once made an offer to the county to provide service with six ambulances—two in Redwood City, two in San Mateo and two in South San Francisco—and for a cost of $1000 per month, but the offer was rejected."

He declined to tell to whom the offer was made in the county, although Supervisor Hickey questioned him on it.

Poss, declaring he believed it better business to subsidize a responsible party if six ambulances are needed for county coverage, was joined by Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch.

Hatch proposed Ratliff make an offer to furnish subsidized service to the county.

Hickey protested that the matter was for the health department to decide.

Art Rudd, captain of the county service, pointed out that with two ambulances and a crew of five men, it was impossible for him to fully cover the county.

However, he said he believed the county was currently giving "excellent service."

Five ambulances could adequately cover the county, he suggested, but I "can't do it for $1000 a month. I don't believe Mr. Ratliff can either."

Hatch later declared he would be willing to take the county ambulances out of service if a private service could be found to take over.

The board voted to study the matter and to place it on the agenda.

Canada has an estimated three and one-half million industrial workers, according to a 1944 survey.

List One Injury As Weekend Toll

San Mateo County's accident injury toll from traffic causes resulted in addition of only one person, who suffered minor bruises and cuts, during the weekend, California Highway Patrol reported Monday.

Norine A. Hess, 28, 550 Lytton Ave., Palo Alto, was injured when her car became involved with two others in a collision at Bayshore Hwy. and Euclid Ave., East Palo Alto, about 10:30 Saturday night.

Redwood City police reported no accidents or injuries for the weekend.

Charles V. Dale, 29, 2815 34th Ave., San Francisco, arrested Friday after an 89-mile-an-hour chase down Bayshore Hwy. paid a $350 fine to Judge Edward I. McAuliffe in city court after pleading guilty to drunken driving charges.

William L. Landrum, 52, 169 Inner Circle, was jailed on drunken driving charges yesterday after local police arrested him at Chestnut and Pennsylvania Sts.

County Officials Get Salary Boost

A salary ordinance which boosts the annual pay rate of San Mateo County elective officials, Tuesday was unanimously passed by the board of supervisors.

The ordinance, which will become effective in one month, raises the salaries of the district attorney, sheriff and county engineer to $5500 annually.

The assessor, clerk, controller, coroner-public administrator, recorder, superintendent of schools, tax collector and treasurer were boosted to $5000 annually.

Biggest boost was for the coroner who formerly received $4000 annually.

The ordinance is, in effect, interim legislation, which raises salaries already set in an ordinance which will not become effective until January, 1947.

A proposed salary raise for Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of county health and welfare, was discussed in caucus this morning, but no action was reported taken.

Lt. Esneault Discharged

After 2½ years' overseas, First Lt. James G. Esneault has returned to the United States and been placed on inactive status at the Camp Beale separation center with 100 discharge points to his credit.

Esneault is now at home with his wife, Faye, and mother, Mrs. Myrtle Esneault at 47 Iris St. He plans to enter Stanford University in the January quarter where he will take graduate courses in education.

Lieutenant Esneault was a cryptographic security officer with the 12th Tactical Air Command and served through the campaigns in Africa, Sicily, Italy, France and Germany. He holds the European Theater Ribbon with seven battle stars.

A 1930 graduate of Sequoia High School, he was graduated from Stanford in 1934 and taught foreign languages at Santa Cruz High School for three years. Prior to entering the army in July, 1942, he was teaching at the Clear Lake High School in Lakeport. He received his commission at Miami Beach, Fla., in March, 1943.

Redwood City Named In S. F. Jury Report

Redwood City came into the picture Wednesday in the San Francisco County Grand Jury's criticism of San Francisco Jail 2. The annual sheriff's committee report to the presiding superior judge, the jury reported that except for extinguishers, the prison has no fire protection nearer than Redwood City. It recommended that adequate fire fighting facilities be installed at the prison.

Supervisors Indicate Desire to Transfer Broadway Property

Possibility that the proposed San Mateo County juvenile home will be located at Woodside Rd. and Valota Rd. in Redwood City appeared stronger than ever Wednesday following:

1. Preference and approval of the Woodside Rd. site by the County Planning Commissioners in a letter to the board of supervisors, and

2. Subsequent decision by the supervisors to advertise the lower Broadway property for sale before determining further action.

The planning commissioners, who now stand sided with Juvenile Court Judge A. R. Cotton in approving the property, set off the first step in long-awaited action on the new home.

Their preference of the property which has been offered for sale to the county at approximately $3000 an acre was immediately followed by a proposal from Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch.

"Before we go into the purchase of that property let's see what the property is worth on Broadway," Hatch declared.

He asked the bids be advertised for the entire block on Broadway where the present juvenile home, county corporation yards and agriculture building are located and also for the block excluding the agriculture building site.

Although E. F. B. Ridgeway, Redwood City business man offered a minimum bid of $20,000, to the supervisors in October, it is expected formal bids will approximate from $60,000 to $70,000 for the Broadway property.

Money from the sale would augment $50,000 already appropriated for the new home.

The Woodside Rd. property located at the northeast corner has been offered to the county by John E. Olson, owner, who asked $42,000 for 13.87 acres.

An 11-acre site for $33,000, a 10-acre site for $30,000, and an eight-acre parcel for $24,000 have been offered by Olson. He has said he would sell the property only for use by the county for a juvenile home.

The juvenile home site, choice of which has passed between supervisors, planning commissioners, probation committee, and Judge Cotton without agreement, has withheld definite planning for the home during the past year.

In the meantime, the present juvenile home at Broadway and Spring St. has been condemned for use as a detention home by various groups, more recently the grand jury which called the structure a "fire-trap."

The request of County Executive Frederick Peterson for five stewards to augment the present staff of five ambulance driver-attendants was placed on the agenda by Supervisor Henry W. Edmonds, who earlier in the day stated his intention to study the county-operated ambulance service.

When the request pointed out no transfer of funds would be necessary because sufficient money was available in the county health and welfare budget, Edmonds commented, "We must have been very generous to set up that extra money."

County Clerk William H. Augustus introduced an ordinance setting up election precincts for the coming year.

He stated an increase of 32 precincts had boosted the total to 334.

Supervisors voted to transfer $1500 from the unbudgeted reserve to the acting superior court judges fund.

Sicknes of judges has used up the budget allotment, it was reported.

A. R. Romer, superintendent of the Hillsborough School District, was appointed to the County Board of Education to fill a vacancy caused by the death of the late Dr. Lester D. Henderson of Burlingame.

Previously enacted ordinance setting up a San Mateo County Redevelopment Agency was referred to the County Planning Commission during the caucus session which preceded the board meeting.

The redevelopment agency, set up to aid in clearing sub-standard housing areas, was opposed by the San Mateo County Civic League.

300 Attend Eastern Star Installation

Over three hundred people packed the Masonic Hall Monday evening to witness the installation of Mrs. Pansy Mansbarger as worthy matron and Mr. Vern Charles as worthy patron of Sequoia Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

Hostess was Mrs. Cornelia P. Cooper, supreme deputy of the state assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, and past matron. The host, Dr. John Nelson Blood, was absent due to illness.

Fourteen Rainbow Girls, gowned in white formals and carrying lighted candles escorted Mrs. Alice Aldis, installing chaplain, into the dimly lighted chapter room.

As the 1946 officers entered, they were also all in white except Mrs. Mansbarger, who wore a turquoise gown and carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, bouvardia and sweet peas tied with silver ribbons and an orchid corsage.

Star Points were Jacqueline L. Seeba, Mono M. Turbitt, Eleanor Padgett, Loretta McCullough and Gertrude Gelber; they formed a star in front of the altar as the flag was brought in by Raymond Littrell, USN, escorted by Dave Stott, master counselor, and Stewart Clegg, past master counselor of the Order of DeMolay. Ruth Miller Barnhart sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

Officers installed by Mrs. Edna V. Eltringham, retiring worthy matron; Max L. Gelber, past patron, in the absence of Perrea M. McAdon. Mrs. Alice Alldis, chaplain, and Mmes. Alice E. Otis and Edna C. Swift, marshals, were: Mrs. Bertha M. Potts, secretary; Aida L. Maranta, treasurer; Virginia Deil, conductress, and Edith M. Cain, associate conductress.

Appointive officers installed were Claudine H. Charles, chaplain; Edna V. Eltringham, marshal; Velma Van Duyne, organist; Augusta A. Marmont, warder, and Grace E. Williams, sentinel.

Assisting in the installing were John Lewis McDonald, past grand patron, as organist; Hazel Purrington, Neva Spillers, Ruth Ethel Cleese, Esther Charlene Mollison, and Della Winkenwerder, retiring star points. Luticia Walden and Ethel Holmquist, past matrons, planned the impressive ceremony.

Rainbow Girls assisting were Patricia Sanders, worthy advisor, and Mary McDonald, Norma Crangle, Hope Cahill, Joy Bowman, Duramae Sanders, Sue Gingerick, Jeannine Estes, Dorcus Smith, Jacqueline Anderson, Ruth Marzotti, Kay McCoy, Wilda Baer, and Ruth Reed.

Vocal solos were rendered by Svend Neilsen, Vivian Tiedemann, Ruth Miller Barnhart and a trio, Marilyn Dahlin, Mary Ann Spinelli and Joan Wilson.

Lighting was by George Peterson, ushering were David Wright, Jay T. Cooper, Harold E. Simpton and Edwin C. Baird. Turquoise and silver decorations were the work of Ethel Cleese and Mildred Nelson.

"Charity For All" is the theme for 1946 as taken from Lincoln's words, said Mrs. Mansbarger in a speech of thanks to the participants and committees. Mr. Charles also expressed thanks and repeated the theme of the matron, "Think and speak kindly of each other."

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall by Chmn. Bernice Black and her committee.

Cpl. Thomas S. Kane Receives Discharge

Dibble Patient Tells of Safe Return Of 70 U.S. Nurses From Corregidor

Despite atrocity stories circulated throughout our country in the war years that followed, all of the 70 army nurses taken prisoner by the Japanese on Corregidor have been returned to this country alive and, comparatively healthy.

"None of us were ever personally mistreated by the Japs," said Capt. Ann Mealer, who was chief nurse on Corregidor. At present a patient at Dibble General Hospital, she will retire with 15 years' service to her credit on the 12th of this month.

When the First Cavalry liberated the Santo Tomas prison on Feb. 3 of this year they received something more substantial than cheers, kisses or tears in the way of thanks.

During their internment, the nurses had set up a crude operating room in the prison, where they had been caring for the internees. Fifteen minutes after the liberation had occurred they were hard at work caring for the casualties among their rescuers. Despite their extremely weakened condition from malnutrition, they continued working, without rest, until 1 p.m. the following day.

It was there, Capt. Mealer said, that she enjoyed her "first wonderful American meal" in the two years eight months since her imprisonment.

Two ore three days later the Japs began shelling the camp, wounding a great number of internees and soldiers. The nurses continued their work in their "home made" operating room.

Finally, Feb. 14, they were taken through sniper fire to Quezon Blvd. in Manila where they boarded a plane which took off from the boulevard for Leyte. It was five years earlier, Feb. 14, 1940, that Captain Mealer had arrived in the Philippines from the United States.

"On Leyte they really fed us," she said. The food included the first steak she had eaten in three years, served by an American general, and ice cream furnished by the navy. Captain Mealer, while on Leyte, received the Bronze Star for her outstanding services while interned.

From Leyte the group of nurses was flown back to the United States, where they were entered in army hospitals to recover from their rigorous ordeal.

According to Captain Mealer, "the Jap formula for treatment of internees was to starve them to death." She termed her captors "ruthless," and said that "you could never tell what they would do next."

Until the last six months of her imprisonment, she said, the food was extremely poor, but at least there was enough to get along. During the final six months, however, there was scarcely enough of the diet to exist.

Throughout their imprisonment the nurses maintained a diet kitchen for the children among the internees. The youngsters were always given the best of what food there was. During the first two years under the Japanese, caribou milk was allowed inside the prison for the children. As the restrictions became more strict, though, the milk was denied them.

When she goes on her terminal leave next week, Captain Mealer intends to return to her home in Birmingham, Ala., where she hopes to raise flowers and learn to cook the recipes she read in cook books during her internment. As a hint to housewives, she revealed a Santo Tomas recipe: eggplant fried in cold cream.

Lyle W. White, Robert P. Byrne Jr. Due To Arrive in United States Ports Tomorrow

Two Redwood City fliers who have fought in far-flung war theaters were scheduled to arrive at United States ports Tuesday for prospective discharges and Christmas at home.

T/Sgt. Lyle W. White who flew Gen. Joseph Stilwell in a Cub observation plane based on Okinawa, is on the Pulitzer, due in San Francisco. First Lt. Robert P. Byrne Jr., in the European Theater since May, 1944 was scheduled to arrive in Boston on the Hood Victory.

On one of his flights with Stilwell, White noticed that the general's famed and battered campaign hat was carried out of the plane with a gust of wind. Associated Press reported that the sergeant asked Stilwell, "Do you want to go down and get it?" The general replied, "I'd sure like to rescue my old friend."

Whereupon White flew the general back to the airstrip and Stilwell offered a $25 reward to any soldier who would brave the surf to rescue the sailing hat. Four hours later with hundreds of soldiers in on the hunt, Cpl. Edward P. Donohoe of Cleveland, O., returned the dripping, 20-year-old headpiece to its owner. Stilwell paid the reward, wrung out his hat and hung it up to dry.

White, whose wife and 3½-year-old son reside here, is also credited with bringing about the destruction of one of the enemy's toughest strong points, the army has reported from Okianwa. While flying a routine mission over Jap lines, White saw a terrific flash on the ground and reported this to an artillery unit. Photographs were taken of the area, revealing two high-velocity 16-inch Jap naval guns placed in caves. Dive bombers and battleships offshore concentrated on the emplacements, smashing both of the huge guns, the army reported.

Lieutenant Byrne flew an A-20 Havoc bomber during the war and is credited with destroying bridges and other German targets. He went overseas as a flight officer and received his first promotion in the Fall of '44. Byrne's wife, Jean, lives in Sacramento. He entered the army on Aug. 28, 1941, and received his pilot's rating on Aug. 30, 1943.

The young officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Byrne Sr. of 167 Myrtle St. On one mission over France, Byrne had to land just eight miles behind the front lines in order to repair his severely damaged plane. With his gunner, he spent three days at the P-47 base repairing the battered plane in between Jerry attacks.
